

Post mill, Billesdon

This mill is the location where my great grandfather William Starr, carried out his apprenticeship as a miller. He then returned to his home and ran a post mill in the village of East Drayton in North Nottinghamshire. I have a post card picture of this mill in its derelict state in 1923. Not only did he return to his home on completion of his apprenticeship, but also brought a wife with him by the name of Emily Bryan.
